1. On 15 March 1950 Wu hsing (吳星), a fa T'ien erh* leader from P'ing Ch'ung (瀋涌) in eastern Chungshan hsien, arrived in Macao with ten followers. In April, Wu was staying with a friend on the ground floor of 9 Yeh Mu Ch'ien (夜母前街) Street. He and his followers were collecting money, in the name of the Min Sheng (民生) Company, from river boats at Chu Chou T'ou (竹洲頭), near Chien Shan (113-32, 22-14) on the inlet west of Macao. The area of activity of the group these men represent is from P'ing Ch'ung to Chu Chou T'ou. The organization, which consists of 100 men with 5 or 6 machine guns, is under the leadership of Wu Ch'uan (吳全). Before coming to Macao, the men who accompanied Wu hsing were engaged in carrying information between the field group and the Macao leader, traveling as smugglers on wood rafts between Macao and P'ing Ch'ung.

2. In early April 1950 river boats calling at Macao were receiving threatening letters, demanding money, signed by HO Feng (何峰) and CHOU Ch'un (周群), director and deputy director respectively of the Ssu I Ch'ing Lien She (四邑青聯社)**. The letters instructed the recipients to deliver the money to the offices of the various Ch'ing Lien She in Macao.

3. River boats in Macao have received notices asking for contributions of foodstuffs for the 3 Army of the Kwangtung Provincial Anti-Communist National Salvation Army***, signed by HUANG Chao (黃朝), commander of the 6 Regiment, 3 Army, Kwangtung Provincial Anti-Communist National Salvation Army.**** HUANG has an office, known as the Hung Chi (鳴記) Company, on the ground floor of the T'ai An (泰安) Hotel, Hai Pang (海傍) Street, Macao, which is used as a center for the collection of money from various shipping companies. In early April, HUANG Chao, who is also known as HUANG Mien (黃冕), was appointed to command a regiment in the 9 Division, 3 Army, Anti-Communist National Salvation Army. He is a native of Liu Wan (牛灣) in Hsinhui hsien. In Macao, HUANG resides at the Wuchow hotel.
